2. Samples or Musters of many of the Articles may be seen at the Office of the General Store-keeper daily, between the hours of 11 and 2, where information relative to these Tenders can be obtained.

3. All Articles for which Samples or Musters are not shown are to be of best and first quality, subject to test.

4. Notification of acceptance of Tender will be made during the last week of February 1862.

5. Delivery of Stores or Articles, unless otherwise ordered, to be made by the Contractor within six days after the receipt by him of the General Store-keeper's order.

6. All Stores, of whatever class or nature, are to be delivered free of all charges at the Company's Store Houses at Howrah, and subject to the approval of the General Store-keeper, an appeal from whose rejection of them will lie to the Consulting Engineer, whose decision shall be final.

7. Rejected Stores shall be removed within four days after the receipt of notice of such rejection, after which time the Company shall have the power to sell such Stores by Public Auction, at the Contractor's account and risk.

Any three of the Directors or any ten Proprietors of the said Bank, may at any time convene a special general meeting of the Proprietors upon giving fifteen days' previous notice of such meeting, and of the purpose of which the same shall be convened as well to the Directors of the said Bank for the time being, as also by public advertisement in the Calcutta Gazette.

XXXVI. It shall be lawful for the Directors of the said Bank, with the sanction of the Governor-General of India in Council, from time to time, to form business agencies and to establish branch Banks at such places as they may deem advantageous to the interests of the Bank, with full power to the said Directors to appoint during pleasure such agents, clerks, and servants and either with or without local Boards of Directors or management and under such regulations, restrictions, and conditions as to them may seem fit, and from time to time to vary such regulations, restrictions, and conditions, and the said Agents and other Officers shall give such security for their good behaviour as the Directors may require; and it shall also be lawful for the Directors from time to time, under any arrangements or agreements with the Governor-General in Council on behalf of the Secretary of State in Council, to provide for the conduct and transaction by any such Branch Bank or Banks of any part of the business of or hitherto conducted at the Local Government Treasuries and for the superintendence, management, and agency of the local issue, payment, and exchange of any Government Currency Notes, provided that such arrangements and all regulations and directions given by the said Directors to the Agents or Managers of such Branch Banks, touching the management thereof or the description of business to be undertaken thereby, shall not contain anything inconsistent with or contrary to the provisions of this Act, or of any Bye-laws, Regulations, or Orders which may be in force for the time being under the 39th Section of this Act.

XXXVII. If any of the said Proprietors shall become indebted to the said Bank, it shall be lawful for the said Bank to withhold payment of the dividends on the share or shares or consolidated stock of such Proprietor registered as his own property, and not as held in trust or as executor or administrator, until payment of such debt, and to apply such dividends towards payment thereof, and after demand and default of payment, and notice in that behalf given either to such Proprietor, or his constituted agent or by public advertisement in the Calcutta Gazette, it shall be lawful for the said Bank to refuse registration of the transfer of any such share or shares or stock of such Proprietor, until payment of such debt, and if the same shall remain unpaid for the space of six calendar months after such notice, to advertise for public sale and to sell such share or shares or stock or so many or so much as may be necessary and to apply the proceeds thereof towards payment of such debt, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, paying over the surplus, if any, to such Proprietor or to his lawful representative.

XXXVIII. Where by the death of any Proprietor his share or shares or stock shall devolve on his legal representative, the Bank shall not be bound to recognize any legal representatives of such deceased Proprietor other than a person who has taken out Probate to the Will or Letters of Administration to the estate of such deceased Proprietor from the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William, or who has obtained a certificate in respect of the estate of such deceased Proprietor under Act XXVII of 1860, describing such shares or stock, from a Court of competent jurisdiction within the Presidency of Fort William.

XXXIX. It shall be lawful for the Directors for the time being of the said Bank to make and pass Bye-laws, Regulations, and orders for the good government, and in reference to the mode of conducting the business of the Bank, and such Regulations and orders from time to time to modify, rescind, and vary, and it shall further be lawful for the Proprietors of the said Bank at any general meeting whether ordinary or special, to pass resolutions and frame and from time to time rescind and vary Bye-laws and Rules for the direction of the affairs of the Bank, and the same shall be binding on the Directors and Officers and on the Proprietors of the Bank, until rescinded or varied at any subsequent general meeting, provided always that no Bye-law, Regulation, or order, or alteration or rescission of any Bye-law, Regulation, or order, whether passed by the Directors or by the Proprietors at a general meeting, shall be of any validity except in so far as the same shall be consistent with the provisions of this Act, and shall be approved by the Governor-General of India in Council, such approval to be signified in writing under the hand of one of the Secretaries to the Government of India.

XL. In the construction of this Act, words in the singular number shall include the plural, words in the plural shall include the singular, and words in the masculine gender shall include the feminine, except where the contrary appears by the context.

XLI. This Act shall come into operation on the day of 186 .

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to provide a new Charter of Incorporation for the Bank of Bengal in lieu of that contained in Act VI of 1839.

In pursuance of the provisions of that Act the Governor-General in Council, in contemplation of the measure for providing for a Paper Currency which is now embodied in Act XIX of 1861, gave twelve months' notice to the Bank of Bengal that the provisions of Act VI of 1839 as regards the power of the Bank to issue Promissory Notes under Section XXXI of that Act would be modified. The Currency Act has since been passed which prohibits the issue of Promissory Notes payable to bearer on demand by any Banking Corporation or private firm whatever, except the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay up to the 1st March 1862. That Act also provided for the Governor-General in Council making such arrangements with any Bank at Calcutta or elsewhere, as may be required to regulate and facilitate the issue and payment under the provisions of that Act of the Government Currency Notes. The subsequent Act

No. XXIV of 1861 empowered the Banks to enter into agreements or arrangements with the Government for superintending, managing, and being agents for the issue, payment, and exchange of the Government Notes payable under the Currency Act, for the carrying on the business of an Agency of Issue in any Circuits of Issue which the Banks shall have established in British India, and for transacting any part of the business of or hitherto generally transacted by or at the General Treasury of the Government of the Presidency of Fort William.

The Government has accordingly entered into an agreement with the Bank of Bengal for the several purposes mentioned in the last cited Act, which agreement was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 4th instant.

It is now proposed to grant to the Bank a new Charter of Incorporation similar in most respects to the old one, but adapted to the change in the business and to the altered circumstances of the Bank consequent upon the withdrawal of the privilege to issue Bank Notes payable to bearer on demand, and upon the transfer of the business of the Government Treasury at Calcutta to the Bank, and to the establishment of the agency of Issue for the Calcutta Circuit at the Bank.

The principal changes proposed in the present Bill in regard to the constitution and business of the Bank are as follows:—

The Capital, which now consists of 2,675 shares of Rupees 4,000 each, is to consist of 10,700 shares of Rupees 1,000 each, divisible as at present into half and quarter shares.

Power is given to increase the Capital to an extent not exceeding double the present Capital, that is, not exceeding 21,400 shares of Rupees 1,000 each.

Any Proprietor may at his option convert his shares into consolidated stock. Such stock shall be transferable in sums of 250 Rupees and upwards, so that a Proprietor may sell any fractional amount he may desire above that sum.

The transfer of any stock is to be by deed of transfer, while the shares continue to be transferred by endorsement of the certificate as at present.

Alterations are provided in regard to the business of the Bank in the following particulars:—

1st By extending the power of making loans on security from the security of Government securities and guaranteed Railway shares, to that of goods, wares, and merchandise, not of a perishable kind.

2nd. By adding the power of transacting agency business on commission.

3rd. By empowering the Bank to issue Post Bills payable in India otherwise than to bearer on demand.

4th. By empowering the Bank to buy Bills for the purpose of remittance to meet Bills or letters of Credit in favor of their constituents, or to grant letters of Credit payable out of India for the use of constituents.

Power is further given to the Directors to take over and transact any part of the business of or hitherto carried on at the General Treasury or in the Department of Accountant General at Fort William; to undertake the agency for the Currency business; and to settle with the Government as to the terms of remuneration of the Bank, and as to the examination and audit from time to time of the affairs and accounts of the Bank on behalf of Government.

Power is also given to the Bank to establish branch Banks and Agencies at such places as the Directors think fit, and to provide for the conduct at such branches of any part of the business hitherto conducted at the local Government Treasury, and for the superintendence of the local issue, payment, and exchange of any Government Currency Notes.

In other respects the provisions of the new Charter follow those of the old. The first Clause as to the privileges of the Bank ceasing in case of its suspending cash payment is omitted, inasmuch as the main object of that provision, which was to stop the issue of Bank Notes payable on demand in case of the Insolvency of the Bank, no longer exists, since the power to issue such notes has been taken away.

THE following proposed amendments in the foregoing Bill were also ordered to be published:—

(1.) The insertion of the following words before the words "are repealed" in Section I:—"Act XXVII of 1855 so far as it relates to the Bank of Bengal."

(2.) That the following Section be adopted instead of Section VI, as printed:—

"It shall be lawful for the Directors of the said Bank, for the time being from time to time as and when they shall deem it expedient so to do, and on such previous notification as they may deem sufficient in that behalf, to increase the said capital; and for that purpose to make such orders and directions for the opening of subscriptions towards such increase of capital by the proprietors of the Bank for the time being as to them may seem fit; and also to allow to the said Proprietors such period to fill up the subscription as to them, the said Directors, shall seem meet; and also to prescribe in what manner and form the said Proprietors shall subscribe and pay into the said Banks the proportions of new capital which such Proprietors may respectively desire to subscribe, and also to make such orders and directions as to them, the said Directors, may seem fit for the disposal and allotment of the amount of new capital that may not be subscribed for and paid up by Proprietors for the time being in the manner and form so prescribed. Provided always that the capital of the said Bank including any increase therein that may be made under Section XXXVII of this Act shall not, in the whole, exceed 30,000 shares, of 1,000 Rupees each."

(3.) That the following words be added to Section XVI:—

"No two or more persons who shall be partners of the same Mercantile Firm, or one of whom shall be the general Agent of, or shall hold a power of procuration from a Mercantile Firm of which the other is a partner, shall be eligible or qualified to serve as Directors at the same time."

(4.) That the following Section be introduced after Section XXXVI:—

"It shall be lawful for the Directors of the said Bank, from time to time, to enter into negotiations for and to purchase and take over the capital, assets, and business of any other Bank within Her Majesty's Indian Territories of which the capital is divided into shares, and to grant and allot to the Shareholders or Proprietors in such Bank in full of their respective right, title, and interest in such capital, assets, and business a sufficient number of shares in the capital stock of the said Bank of Bengal (which number shall be determined by the Directors) and for that purpose to increase the Capital stock of the said Bank by the issue of such number of shares as may be so determined on. The Shareholders or Proprietors of the purchased Bank, to whom such new shares shall be allotted shall be proprietors of the Bank of Bengal and be in all respects in the same position as if they had respectively subscribed and paid for the shares so allotted to them. Provided always that the business so purchased shall after the purchase be carried on by the said Bank of Bengal with, and subject to, the several restrictions contained in this Act."

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th February 1862, and was referred to a Select Committee, who will make a report thereon after the 15th of May next:—

A Bill relating to Breaches of Contract committed in bad faith.

WHEREAS it is just and expedient that Defendants in Civil suits who have broken their Contracts in bad faith, without reasonable excuse, after receiving consideration for the same, shall be liable to stricter provisions in regard to the judgment and execution to be awarded against them than Defendants whose failure to perform their Contracts has not been in bad faith or without reasonable excuse; It is enacted as follows:—

I. In this Act, a person is said to break, or to refuse or neglect to perform his Contract in bad faith, if he breaks, or refuses or neglects to perform, his Contract intentionally and from some motive of interest or ill-will, and not otherwise.

The words "reasonable excuse" denote an excuse which the Court may think reasonable, having regard to the circumstances of the case and the ability of the Defendant to perform his Contract, although such excuse does not amount to a legal justification of the non-performance of the Contract.

The expression "substantial part of the consideration" denotes any such part of the consideration as the Court shall deem to be substantial according to the nature of the Contract and the circumstances of the case. Mere payment of earnest or of a small sum to bind the bargain shall not be deemed a substantial part of the consideration within the meaning of this Act. Nor shall any payment or delivery as part of the consideration be deemed substantial, if it is less in amount or value than the Defendant was entitled according to the terms of the Contract to have received from the Plaintiff at the time of the neglect or refusal of the Defendant to perform his Contract.

The words "damages necessary to indemnify the Plaintiff against all loss" are not confined to such damages as were contemplated, or may reasonably be supposed to have been contemplated, by the parties at the time they entered into the Contract. They include the full extent of loss which the Plaintiff has sustained or is reasonably likely to sustain as a direct consequence of the breach of Contract, including the loss of any profit which he has been thereby directly prevented from making, whether the Defendant at the time of entering into the Contract or of the breach thereof knew that such loss would be the direct consequence of a breach of the Contract or not.

Words importing the singular number include the plural: and words importing the plural number include the singular.

Words importing the masculine gender include females.

II. (1).—When any person who shall have entered into a Contract for the performance of any act on his part, shall have received the consideration, or any substantial part of the consideration, for the performance of the Contract on his part, and shall refuse or neglect to perform his Contract according to the terms thereof, it shall be lawful for the Civil Court before which any suit for the breach of such Contract may be brought, whether such Court be one established by Royal Charter or not, to determine whether the Defendant has in bad faith and without reasonable excuse refused or neglected to perform his Contract.

(2).—If it shall find that the Defendant has wilfully or in bad faith and without reasonable excuse refused or neglected to perform his Contract, the Court shall record its judgment to that effect, and shall award to the Plaintiff the full amount of damages necessary to indemnify the Plaintiff against all loss which he may have sustained, or which the Court may consider he is reasonably likely to sustain by reason of the non-performance of the Contract.

And may in such cases award full damages.

III. If a Civil Court shall order the specific performance of any Contract of which the consideration, or a substantial part of the consideration, shall have been received by the Defendant, and shall fix an amount to be paid as damages in the event of the non-performance thereof, and shall find that the Defendant has wilfully or in bad faith and without reasonable excuse broken his Contract, the Court may award and assess the damages to be paid in the event of non-performance in the manner provided by Section II of this Act; and such damages, if they shall become payable, shall be deemed to be damages within the meaning of this Act, and shall be subject to all its provisions in regard to damages.

IV. (1).—Whenever damages shall be awarded by a Civil Court under Section II of this Act, if the Defendant shall fail to pay the same at the time at which they are payable by the judgment or decree, it shall be lawful for the Court to order him to be arrested and detained in custody for such period as it may deem fit, not exceeding the period allowed by the Code of Civil Procedure (Act VIII of 1859), that is to say if the decree be for the payment of money not exceeding 50 Rupees, a period not exceeding three months; if the decree be for the payment of money not exceeding 500 Rupees, a period not exceeding six months; or if the decree be for the payment of money exceeding 500 Rupees, a period not exceeding two years.

(2).—It shall not be necessary in such case for the Plaintiff to provide subsistence money as required by that Act or by Act VII of 1855 (to amend the Law of Arrest on mesne process in Civil actions in Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature, and to provide for the subsistence of Prisoners confined under Civil process in any of the said Courts) or diet money as required by Act IX of 1850 (for the more easy recovery of Small Debts and Demands in Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay.)

V. In every such case the Defendant shall provide for his own subsistence in Jail, and in case he shall fail so to do, he shall be maintained at the expense of the Government and allowed the same diet as Prisoners in the Criminal Jail, and shall be subject to hard labor in the Civil Jail for the period during which he shall be detained in execution.

VI. A Defendant in confinement for non-payment of such damages shall not be entitled to his discharge in respect thereof under the 280th and 281st Sections of the said Code of Civil Procedure, or under any order for his personal discharge by a Court for the Relief of Insolvent Debtors (other than a final order of discharge in the nature of a Certificate of his former and his after-acquired property) until he shall have been imprisoned for the period for which he shall have been committed as aforesaid, unless he shall have paid the full amount of such damages.

VII. A Defendant once discharged by the expiration of the period of imprisonment so awarded as aforesaid shall not be again imprisoned or arrested under the same Decree: but until the Decree shall be fully satisfied his property shall continue liable, when the Decree shall be that of a Court established by Royal Charter, to be taken in execution according to the provisions of Act VI of 1855 (to extend the operation of and regulate the mode of executing writs of execution in Her Majesty's Supreme Courts of Judicature) or to any Act or Rules in force for the time being regulating execution in such Courts, and when the Decree shall be that of a Court not so established, to attachment and sale according to the said Code of Civil Procedure.

VIII. Provided that if the Defendant shall obtain from any Court for the Relief of Insolvent Debtors an order of final discharge of his person and his after acquired property in the nature of a certificate in bankruptcy, nothing in this Act contained shall prevent the full operation of such order in respect of the person or the after-acquired property of the said Defendant.

IX. The arrest and confinement of a Defendant by virtue of the provisions of this Act under any judgment or decree of a Court established by Royal Charter shall not be deemed a satisfaction of such judgment or decree in respect of any property of the Defendant.

X. This Act shall not extend to any Contract entered into before the passing of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to provide proceedings of greater strictness, in regard to the amount of damages, and the nature of the execution to be awarded, than the Law at present admits, against Defendants in Civil suits who have broken their Contracts in bad faith and without reasonable excuse, after having received consideration for the same.

2. A Bill was brought into the Legislative Council last year by the Hon'ble Mr. Beadon to provide for the punishment of breaches of Contract of one particular class, namely, Contracts for the cultivation, production, gathering, provision, manufacture, carriage, and delivery of agricultural produce. The Bill was framed upon the same principle as Act XIII of 1859, which provided for the punishment of breaches of Contract by artificers, workmen, and laborers in the Presidency Towns and in such other places as the Government might extend the Act to, and was itself based on the special legislation that has long obtained in England in regard to breaches of Contract between masters and workmen or laborers in numerous callings and trades. Mr. Beadon's Bill provided for the Criminal trial before a Magistrate of all charges of wilful breach of such agricultural Contracts by Ryots, laborers, or others who had received an advance from their employers, and for their punishment by imprisonment with hard labor.

3. The Bill was read a second time and was referred to a Select Committee. In the meantime a Despatch was received by the Government of India from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State in Council expressing disapproval of the principle of the Bill, on the ground that it treated a mere breach of Contract as a Criminal offence, and indicating an intention to disallow the Bill if passed by the Council in India.

4. The President of the Select Committee upon the Bill, the Hon'ble and learned Chief Justice, (who had supported the penal provisions of the Bill but thought that they ought not to be restricted to Contracts under which advances had been made,) thereupon prepared a Draft Report, stating that the Committee thought, under the circumstances, that it would be injurious to the public interests to pass an Act with the knowledge that those who have been entrusted by Parliament with the power of ordering its immediate repeal would doubtless exercise such power; but further stating that although the Council could not do all that it might wish, the Committee thought that some relief might be afforded by exempting Complainants in cases of the nature contemplated by Mr. Beadon's Bill, from the necessity of supplying subsistence money before the Defendants could be detained in execution by order of the Court, and by rendering the Defendants liable to be kept to hard labor in the Civil Jail for the period allowed by the Code of Civil Procedure for their detention in execution unless they should provide for their own maintenance. The Hon'ble and learned Chief Justice prepared a Draft of an amended Bill in accordance with these suggestions.

5. The Report itself had not been presented, nor had any conclusion as to the Draft of the Report or of the amendments, been adopted, by the Select Committee at the time of the expiration of the functions of the Council as then constituted.

6. The Government of India has since carefully and earnestly considered the subject, and has come to the conclusion that, in regard to Contracts upon which consideration has been received, the principle of the measure recommended in the Draft Report ought to be adopted, but that that principle should be carried out to what appears to be its legitimate extent, and should be applied to all Contracts whatsoever, broken in bad faith, and without reasonable excuse, by Defendants who have received consideration. While it is thought that a general measure of this kind will be less likely to meet with objection or disallowance in England than a measure restricted to agricultural Contracts, it is also felt that a broad and comprehensive Law applicable to all Contracts and to all Civil Courts throughout India, by which a clear distinction is marked out between the honest and the dishonest Contractor—between the man who breaks his Contract in bad faith and from some motive of interest or ill-will, and the man whose breach of Contract arises from misfortune or from circumstances which afford him morally a reasonable excuse though not a legal justification for the breach—is more consonant with just principles of legislation, and is less exposed to distrust and misinterpretation than a measure restricted to a special class of Contracts.

7. The Bill accordingly provides that when any person who shall have contracted for the performance of any act on his part shall have received the consideration, or a substantial part of the consideration for the same, and shall have broken his Contract, it shall be lawful for the Civil Court before which any suit for the breach of such Contract shall be brought, to determine whether the Defendant has broken the Contract in bad faith and without any reasonable excuse: And in that case the Court shall record its judgment to that effect, and shall award such amount of damages as is necessary fully to indemnify the Plaintiff against all loss, present and prospective, arising from such breach. When the Court has so pronounced, the Defendant shall be liable to be committed to the Civil Jail in execution, for such period as the Court may award, not exceeding the time provided by the Code of Civil Procedure, (that is, when the damages are under 50 Rupees a term not exceeding three months, when above 50 Rupees but under 500 Rupees a term not exceeding six months, when above 500 Rupees a term not exceeding two years)—and in such case the Plaintiff shall not be bound to supply the subsistence money required by the Code or by Act VII of 1855 regulating execution from the Supreme Courts: But the Defendant shall be bound to maintain himself in Jail, or on failing so to do shall be maintained at the expense of the Government, and shall be kept to hard labor while so maintained: And the Defendant shall not be entitled to be discharged from such confinement under the discharge Clauses of the Code of Civil Procedure (Sections 280 and 281), or under any order of discharge of an Insolvent Court (other than a final order of discharge in the nature of a certificate), until he shall either have paid the full amount of damages or shall have undergone the term of imprisonment awarded by the Court. The Bill also provides that when a Defendant shall have been discharged from Jail by effluxion of time, his person shall not be again liable to be taken in execution for the same claim, but his property shall continue subject to execution and sale till the amount of damages is repaid, unless in the case of a person subject to the jurisdiction of a Court for the relief of Insolvent Debtors, the party shall have obtained his final order of discharge in the nature of a certificate from such a Court.

8. The Bill places an award for damages made by the Court in the alternative in case its Decree for specific performance is not carried out, on the same footing as ordinary damages under the Bill.

9. Care has been taken so to define the words "in bad faith," "reasonable excuse," and certain other expressions in the Bill (which might, if undefined, cause embarrassment to the Court applying its provisions) as to exclude from the operation of the Bill all cases in which intentional and dishonest breach of Contract is not an ingredient, and to give the Court within the limits prescribed a large discretion to deal with each case according to its special circumstances.

10. Such a measure will not be open to the objection that it is pointed against one particular class of Defendants, or that its benefits are confined to one particular class of Plaintiffs. Nor will the objection that a breach of Contract often involves Equities between the parties with which a Magistrate or other Criminal Authority unaccustomed to administer Civil Justice is not competent to deal satisfactorily, apply to such a measure; For the remedy it provides is to be administered solely by the ordinary Civil Courts, including in that term the Small Cause Courts, in cases within their jurisdiction: And the difficulty of determining whether a Contract has been broken in bad faith or without reasonable excuse, will practically be no greater than that of resolving the ordinary questions with which Civil Courts have to deal. The measure, too, is free from the objection that the proceedings provided against a defaulting Contractor may be perverted into an instrument of extortion or oppression, as it is only after the Civil Court has fully heard the whole evidence on both sides, and after it has determined that a valid Contract exists, and that that Contract has been broken by the Defendant after receiving consideration, that it will be called on to pronounce whether the breach was committed in good or in bad faith, or with or without reasonable excuse.

11. The only restriction placed by the Bill upon the nature of the Contracts to which its provisions apply, is that the Contract shall be one upon which consideration has been received by the person breaking it. On the one hand it is thought undesirable to extend the measure to Contracts upon which the Plaintiff has not actually given any consideration by parting with his money, goods, or otherwise, but has merely promised to give some equivalent for the act to be done by the Defendant: In such cases it is often impossible to say with absolute certainty whether the Plaintiff would have performed his part of the Contract if the Defendant had performed his. The position of the Plaintiff has not been changed for the worse, as it has been when he has actually performed his part of the Contract; The injury to him therefore in the great majority of cases is less than when he has given consideration. And the non-performance of the Contract, even though in some cases it may proceed from fraudulent motives, is not in itself of that palpably dishonest character, partaking morally of the nature of a breach of trust, which it is in the other case.

12. On the other hand it has been thought advisable not to limit the measure to cases in which consideration has been paid in money, but to extend it to all cases in which consideration of whatever kind has been received by the Defendant. The Tradesman who has sold and delivered his goods, or the Landlord whose land has been held by a tenant, is as much entitled to protection in respect of the money receivable by him, as the Capitalist or Planter, who has advanced his money, is entitled to such protection in respect of the goods or produce he is to receive in return.

13. Such a measure will include every breach of Contract which Mr. Beadon's Bill provided for, and will in addition embrace a variety of other Contracts of which a wilful and dishonest breach may be fraught with as mischievous consequences to the other contracting party as in the class of Contracts referred to in that Bill.

(Sd.) W. RITCHIE.

DRAFT REPORT.

To the HON'BLE THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

We the undersigned, being the Select Committee to whom a Bill "to provide for the punishment of Breach of Contract for the Cultivation, Production, Gathering, Provision, Manufacture, Carriage, and Delivery of Agricultural Produce," and a Bill "to provide for the registration and for the better enforcement of engagements for the cultivation and delivery of Agricultural Produce" were referred, have the honor to report as follows:—

The Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India having objected to a law for punishing by Criminal proceedings breaches of Contract relating to Agricultural produce, we cannot recommend the Council to pass the Bill introduced by Mr. Beadon in its present form. Such an Act, if passed by the Council even if it should receive the assent of the Governor-General, would no doubt be immediately repealed under orders from England. Whatever therefore may be the opinions of individual Members of this Committee (for they by no means agree as to the principle of the Bill), we think that it would be injurious to the public interests to pass an Act, with the knowledge that those who have been entrusted by Parliament with the power of ordering its immediate repeal would doubtless exercise that power. To pass a Law under such circumstances and to give it effect for a few months only could not by possibility be of any public benefit. But although the Council cannot do all that it might wish, we think that some relief may be afforded by exempting Complainants, in cases of the nature contemplated by Mr. Beadon's Bill, from the necessity of supplying subsistence money before the Defendants can be detained in execution by order of the Civil Court. In many cases a single individual may be obliged to employ numerous laborers or cultivators to enable himself to carry on the business in which he may be engaged, and in which he may have embarked his capital. To compel him to resort to the Civil Court for every breach of Contract which may be committed by those whom he has employed will be a hardship, and will afford but little relief, unless Courts competent to deal summarily with the cases, such as the Small Cause Courts, be established in sufficient numbers and within convenient distances. But even if such Courts be established, the benefit to be derived from them will be greatly diminished if Complainants, be compelled to deposit subsistence money not exceeding four annas a day for each defaulting Contractor, before he can be detained in execution by order of the Civil Court after a decree obtained against him. We therefore propose to relieve Complainants in such cases from the necessity of depositing subsistence money which now exists under the Civil Procedure Act, and to render the Defendants liable to be kept to hard labor in the Civil Jail so long as they are detained in execution unless they provide for their own maintenance. The expense to Government will be no greater than if the defaulters were detained in the Criminal Jail under an order of a Magistrate. We propose also to render the defaulter's property liable to distress and sale for the amount expended by Government for his maintenance, leaving the defaulter himself liable to be imprisoned and kept to labor for an additional month unless the amount be paid. We have made such alterations in Mr. Beadon's Bill as we think necessary; and considering that the Contracts in question will be subject only to the Civil Courts, we see no necessity for any special provisions for registration. We have introduced in the Bill such of the Clauses of Mr. Seonce's Bill as appear to us to be necessary, and we recommend the two Bills to be consolidated.

M. WYLIE,

Depy. Secy. to the Govt. of India,
Home Department.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th February 1862, and was referred to a Select Committee, who will make a report thereon after the 15th of May next:—

A Bill relating to Emigration to the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the provisions of Act XV of 1842 (for regulating the Emigration of the Native Inhabitants of the Territories under the Government of the East India Company to the Island of Mauritius) so that Native Inhabitants of British India may emigrate to the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles; It is enacted as follows:—

I. Act XIV of 1839, in so far as it renders liable to penalties every person who shall make with any Native of India any contract for labor to be performed in the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles or who shall knowingly aid or abet any Native of India in emigrating from the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay respectively to the said Colonial Dependency, is repealed.

II. All the provisions of the said Act XV of 1842, as modified by Act XLIX of 1860 (relating to vessels carrying Emigrant Passengers to the British Colonies), shall extend and apply to Native Inhabitants of the British Territories in India who shall emigrate to the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles, and the said Act XV of 1842 shall be read as if the words "or the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles" had been inserted therein after the word "Mauritius" wherever the word "Mauritius" occurs in the said Act.

III. No Emigrant shall be permitted to embark for the said Dependency of Seychelles without a certificate from the Agent appointed by the Government of Mauritius and Seychelles, countersigned by the Protector of Emigrants of the Port of Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, to the effect that such person has been engaged by him as an Emigrant to that Dependency on the part of the said Government.

IV. In case of sickness breaking out on board of any vessel conveying Emigrants to the said Dependency, such Emigrants may be taken to the Quarantine Station of the Island of Mauritius, and in such case such Emigrants may, at their option, contract for service at the said Island of Mauritius, or may proceed to the said Dependency; and if they shall elect to contract for service in the said Island of Mauritius, such Emigrants shall then be regarded and treated, in all respects, as if they had emigrated to the said Island under the said Act XV of 1842.

V. This Act shall take effect as to the said Colonial Dependency of Seychelles from the day when the Governor-General of India in Council shall notify in the Calcutta Gazette that such regulations have been provided, and such measures taken, as the Governor-General in Council deems necessary for the protection of such Emigrants during their residence in the said Colonial Dependency of Seychelles and in respect of their return to India.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Government of Mauritius has informed the Government of India that the Secretary of State for the Colonies has approved of the extension of Indian Emigration to the Seychelles Dependencies, and has requested that the measure may receive the sanction of the Indian Legislature.

The present Bill has been drawn on the model of Act XXXIII of 1860 relating to Emigration to Natal, and was introduced into the late Legislative Council at the request of the Government of India.

It proposes no new provision of Law, and only extends to the Seychelles the same facilities for obtaining laborers from India which have already been given to other British Colonies.

Bengal that the provisions of the said Act, as regards the power of the Bank to issue Promissory Notes under Section XXXI of that Act, would be modified as hereinafter appears, and it is expedient that the provisions of the said Act and of Act XXI of 1854 (to amend the Law relating to the several Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay) as regards the said Bank of Bengal should be re-enacted with certain amendments and modifications hereafter contained; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

I. Act VI of 1839, except in so far as it repeals any prior Charter, Regulation, or Act, and except as to any act or offence done or committed or any liability incurred before this Act shall come into operation, and Act XXI of 1854 so far as it relates to the Bank of Bengal, are repealed from and after the coming into operation of this Act.

II. XLI. This Act shall come into operation on the day of 186 .

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to provide a new Charter of Incorporation for the Bank of Bengal in lieu of that contained in Act VI of 1839.

In pursuance of the provisions of that Act the Governor-General in Council, in contemplation of the measure for providing for a Paper Currency which is now embodied in Act XIX of 1861, gave twelve months' notice to the Bank of Bengal that the provisions of Act VI of 1839 as regards the power of the Bank to issue Promissory Notes under Section XXXI of that Act would be modified. The Currency Act has since been passed which prohibits the issue of Promissory Notes payable to bearer on demand by any Banking Corporation or private firm whatever, except the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay up to the 1st March 1862. That Act also provided for the Governor-General in Council making such arrangements with any Bank at Calcutta or elsewhere, as may be required to regulate and facilitate the issue and payment under the provisions of that Act of the Government Currency Notes. The subsequent Act No. XXIV of 1861 empowered the Banks to enter into agreements or arrangements with the Government for superintending, managing, and being agents for the issue, payment, and exchange of the Government Notes payable under the Currency Act, for the carrying on the business of an Agency of Issue in any Circuits of Issue which the Banks shall have established in British India, and for transacting any part of the business of or hitherto generally transacted by or at the General Treasury of the Government of the Presidency of Fort William.

The Government has accordingly entered into an agreement with the Bank of Bengal for the several purposes mentioned in the last cited Act, which agreement was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 4th instant.

It is now proposed to grant to the Bank a new Charter of Incorporation similar in most respects to the old one, but adapted to the change in the business and to the altered circumstances of the Bank consequent upon the withdrawal of the privilege to issue Bank Notes payable to bearer on demand, and upon the transfer of the business of the Government Treasury at Calcutta to the Bank, and to the establishment of the agency of Issue for the Calcutta Circuit at the Bank.

The principal changes proposed in the present Bill in regard to the constitution and business of the Bank are as follows:—

The Capital, which now consists of 2,675 shares of Rupees 4,000 each, is to consist of 10,700 shares of Rupees 1,000 each, divisible as at present into half and quarter shares.

Power is given to increase the Capital to an extent not exceeding double the present Capital, that is, not exceeding 21,400 shares of Rupees 1,000 each.

Any Proprietor may at his option convert his shares into consolidated stock. Such stock shall be transferable in sums of 250 Rupees and upwards, so that a Proprietor may sell any fractional amount he may desire above that sum.

The transfer of any stock is to be by deed of transfer, while the shares continue to be transferred by endorsement of the certificate as at present.

Alterations are provided in regard to the business of the Bank in the following particulars:—

1st. By extending the power of making loans on security from the security of Government securities and guaranteed Railway shares, to that of goods, wares, and merchandise, not of a perishable kind.

2nd. By adding the power of transacting agency business on commission.

3rd. By empowering the Bank to issue Post Bills payable in India otherwise than to bearer on demand.

4th. By empowering the Bank to buy Bills for the purpose of remittance to meet Bills or letters of Credit in favor of their constituents, or to grant letters of Credit payable out of India for the use of constituents.

Power is further given to the Directors to take over and transact any part of the business of or hitherto carried on at the General Treasury or in the Department of Accountant General at Fort William; to undertake the agency for the Currency business; and to settle with the Government as to the terms of remuneration of the Bank, and as to the examination and audit from time to time of the affairs and accounts of the Bank on behalf of Government.

Power is also given to the Bank to establish branch Banks and Agencies at such places as the Directors think fit, and to provide for the conduct at such branches of any part of the business hitherto conducted at the local Government Treasury, and for the superintendence of the local issue, payment, and exchange of any Government Currency Notes.

In other respects the provisions of the new Charter follow those of the old. The first Clause as to the privileges of the Bank ceasing in case of its suspending cash payment is omitted, inasmuch as the main object of that provision, which was to stop the issue of Bank Notes payable on demand in case of the Insolvency of the Bank, no longer exists, since the power to issue such notes has been taken away.

THE following proposed amendments in the foregoing Bill were also ordered to be published:—

(1.) The insertion of the following words before the words "are repealed" in Section I:—"Act XXVII of 1855 so far as it relates to the Bank of Bengal."

(2.) That the following Section be adopted instead of Section VI, as printed:—

"It shall be lawful for the Directors of the said Bank, for the time being from time to time as and when they shall deem it expedient so to do, and on such previous notification as they may deem sufficient in that behalf, to increase the said capital; and for that purpose to make such orders and directions for the opening of subscriptions towards such increase of capital by the proprietors of the Bank for the time being as to them may seem fit; and also to allow to the said Proprietors such period to fill up the subscription as to them, the said Directors, shall seem meet; and also to prescribe in what manner and form the said Proprietors shall subscribe and pay into the said Banks the proportions of new capital which such Proprietors may respectively desire to subscribe, and also to make such orders and directions as to them, the said Directors, may seem fit for the disposal and allotment of the amount of new capital that may not be subscribed for and paid up by Proprietors for the time being in the manner and form so prescribed. Provided always that the capital of the said Bank including any increase therein that may be made under Section XXXVII of this Act shall not, in the whole, exceed 30,000 shares, of 1,000 Rupees each."

(3.) That the following words be added to Section XVI:—

"No two persons who shall be partners of the same Mercantile Firm, or one of whom shall be the general Agent of, or shall hold a power of procuration from a Mercantile Firm of which the other is a partner, shall be eligible or qualified to serve as Directors at the same time."

(4.) That the following Section be introduced after Section XXXVI:—

"It shall be lawful for the Directors of the said Bank, from time to time, to enter into negotiations for and to purchase and take over the capital, assets, and business of any other Bank within Her Majesty's Indian Territories of which the capital is divided into shares, and to grant and allot to the Shareholders or Proprietors in such Bank in full of their respective right, title, and interest in such capital, assets, and business a sufficient number of shares in the capital stock of the said Bank of Bengal (which number shall be determined by the Directors) and for that purpose to increase the Capital stock of the said Bank by the issue of such number of shares as may be so determined on. The Shareholders or Proprietors of the purchased Bank, to whom such new shares shall be allotted shall be proprietors of the Bank of Bengal and be in all respects in the same position as if they had respectively subscribed and paid for the shares so allotted to them. Provided always that the business so purchased shall after the purchase be carried on by the said Bank of Bengal with, and subject to, the several restrictions contained in this Act."

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th February 1862, and was referred to a Select Committee, who will make a report thereon after the 15th of May next:—

A Bill relating to Breaches of Contract committed in bad faith.

WHEREAS it is just and expedient that Defendants in Civil suits who have broken their Contracts in bad faith, without reasonable excuse, after receiving consideration for the same, shall be liable to stricter provisions in regard to the judgment and execution to be awarded against them than Defendants whose failure to perform their Contracts has not been in bad faith or without reasonable excuse; It is enacted as follows:—

I. In this Act, a person is said to break, or to refuse or neglect to perform his Contract in bad faith, if he breaks, or refuses or neglects to perform, his Contract intentionally and from some motive of interest or ill-will, and not otherwise.

The words "reasonable excuse" denote an excuse which the Court may think reasonable, having regard to the circumstances of the case and the ability of the Defendant to perform his Contract, although such excuse does not amount to a legal justification of the non-performance of the Contract.

The expression "substantial part of the consideration" denotes any such part of the consideration as the Court shall deem to be substantial according to the nature of the Contract and the circumstances of the case. Mere payment of earnest or of a small sum to bind the bargain shall not be deemed a substantial part of the consideration within the meaning of this Act. Nor shall any payment or delivery as part of the consideration be deemed substantial, if it is less in amount or value than the Defendant was entitled according to the terms of the Contract to have received from the Plaintiff at the time of the neglect or refusal of the Defendant to perform his Contract.

The words "damages necessary to indemnify the Plaintiff against all loss" are not confined to such damages as were contemplated, or may reasonably be supposed to have been contemplated, by the parties at the time they entered into the Contract. They include the full extent of loss which the Plaintiff has sustained or is reasonably likely to sustain as a direct consequence of the breach of Contract, including the loss of any profit which he has been thereby directly prevented from making, whether the Defendant at the time of entering into the Contract or of the breach thereof knew that such loss would be the direct consequence of a breach of the Contract or not.

Words importing the singular number include the plural: and words importing the plural number include the singular.

Words importing the masculine gender include females.

II. (1).—When any person who shall have entered into a Contract for the performance of any act on his part, shall have received the consideration, or any substantial part of the consideration, for the performance of the Contract on his part, and shall refuse or neglect to perform his Contract according to the terms thereof, it shall be lawful for the Civil Court before which any suit for the breach of such Contract may be brought, whether such Court be one established by Royal Charter or not, to determine whether the Defendant has in bad faith and without reasonable excuse refused or neglected to perform his Contract.

(2).—If it shall find that the Defendant has* in bad faith and without reasonable excuse refused or neglected to perform his Contract, the Court shall record its judgment to that effect, and shall award to the Plaintiff the full amount of damages necessary to indemnify the Plaintiff against all loss which he may have sustained, or which the Court may consider he is reasonably likely to sustain by reason of the non-performance of the Contract.

III. If a Civil Court shall order the specific performance of any Contract of which the consideration, or a substantial part of the consideration, shall have been received by the Defendant, and shall fix an amount to be paid as damages in the event of the non-performance thereof, and shall find that the Defendant has* in bad faith and without reasonable excuse broken his Contract, the Court may award and assess the damages to be paid in the event of non-performance in the manner provided by Section II of this Act; and such damages, if they shall become payable, shall be deemed to be damages within the meaning of this Act, and shall be subject to all its provisions in regard to damages.

IV. (1).—Whenever damages shall be awarded by a Civil Court under Section II of this Act, if the Defendant shall fail to pay the same at the time at which they are payable by the judgment or decree, it shall be lawful for the Court to order him to be arrested and detained in execution for such period as it may deem fit, not exceeding the period allowed by the Code of Civil Procedure (Act VIII of 1859), that is to say if the decree be for the payment of money not exceeding 50 Rupees, a period not exceeding three months; if the decree be for the payment of money not exceeding 500 Rupees, a period not exceeding six months; or if the decree be for the payment of money exceeding 500 Rupees, a period not exceeding two years.

* N. B.—The words "wilfully or" in Section II Clause 2 and Section III were retained in the original Draft Bill by mistake and are omitted from the Bill as now re-printed.

(2).—It shall not be necessary in such case for the Plaintiff to provide subsistence money as required by that Act or by Act VII of 1855 (to amend the Law of Arrest on mesne process in Civil actions in Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature, and to provide for the subsistence of Prisoners confined under Civil process in any of the said Courts) or diet money as required by Act IX of 1850 (for the more easy recovery of Small Debts and Demands in Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay.)

V. In every such case the Defendant shall provide for his own subsistence in Jail, and in case he shall fail so to do, he shall be maintained at the expense of the Government and allowed the same diet as Prisoners in the Criminal Jail, and shall be subject to hard labor in the Civil Jail for the period during which he shall be detained in execution.

VI. A Defendant in confinement for non-payment of such damages shall not be entitled to his discharge in respect thereof under the 280th and 281st Sections of the said Code of Civil Procedure, or under any order for his personal discharge by a Court for the Relief of Insolvent Debtors (other than a final order of discharge in the nature of a Certificate of his former and his after-acquired property) until he shall have been imprisoned for the period for which he shall have been committed as aforesaid, unless he shall have paid the full amount of such damages.

VII. A Defendant once discharged by the expiration of the period of imprisonment so awarded as aforesaid shall not be again imprisoned or arrested under the same Decree: but until the Decree shall be fully satisfied his property shall continue liable, when the Decree shall be that of a Court established by Royal Charter, to be taken in execution according to the provisions of Act VI of 1855 (to extend the operation of and regulate the mode of executing writs of execution in Her Majesty's Supreme Courts of Judicature) or to any Act or Rules in force for the time being regulating execution in such Courts, and when the Decree shall be that of a Court not so established, to attachment and sale according to the said Code of Civil Procedure.

VIII. Provided that if the Defendant shall obtain from any Court for the Relief of Insolvent Debtors an order of final discharge of his person and his after acquired property in the nature of a certificate in bankruptcy, nothing in this Act contained shall prevent the full operation of such order in respect of the person or the after-acquired property of the said Defendant.

IX. The arrest and confinement of a Defendant by virtue of the provisions of this Act under any judgment or decree of a Court established by Royal Charter shall not be deemed a satisfaction of such judgment or decree in respect of any property of the Defendant.

X. This Act shall not extend to any Contract entered into before the passing of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to provide proceedings of greater strictness, in regard to the amount of damages, and the nature of the execution to be awarded, than the Law at present admits, against Defendants in Civil suits who have broken their Contracts in bad faith and without reasonable excuse, after having received consideration for the same.

2. A Bill was brought into the Legislative Council last year by the Hon'ble Mr. Beadon to provide for the punishment of breaches of Contract of one particular class, namely, Contracts for the cultivation, production, gathering, provision, manufacture, carriage, and delivery of agricultural produce. The Bill was framed upon the same principle as Act XIII of 1859, which provided for the punishment of breaches of Contract by artificers, workmen, and laborers in the Presidency Towns and in such other places as the Government might extend the Act to, and was itself based on the special legislation that has long obtained in England in regard to breaches of Contract between masters and workmen or laborers in numerous callings and trades. Mr. Beadon's Bill provided for the Criminal trial before a Magistrate of all charges of wilful breach of such agricultural Contracts by Ryots, laborers, or others who had received an advance from their employers, and for their punishment by imprisonment with hard labor.

3. The Bill was read a second time and was referred to a Select Committee. In the meantime a Despatch was received by the Government of India from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State in Council expressing disapproval of the principle of the Bill, on the ground that it treated a mere breach of Contract as a Criminal offence, and indicating an intention to disallow the Bill if passed by the Council in India.

4. The President of the Select Committee upon the Bill, the Hon'ble and learned Chief Justice, (who had supported the penal provisions of the Bill but thought that they ought not to be restricted to Contracts under which advances had been made,) thereupon prepared a Draft Report, stating that the Committee thought, under the circumstances, that it would be injurious to the public interests to pass an Act with the knowledge that those who have been entrusted by Parliament with the power of ordering its immediate repeal would doubtless exercise such power; but further stating that although the Council could not do all that it might wish, the Committee thought that some relief might be afforded by exempting Complainants in cases of the nature contemplated by Mr. Beadon's Bill, from the necessity of supplying subsistence money before the Defendants could be detained in execution by order of the Court, and by rendering the Defendants liable to be kept to hard labor in the Civil Jail for the period allowed by the Code of Civil Procedure for their detention in execution unless they should provide for their own maintenance. The Hon'ble and learned Chief Justice prepared a Draft of an amended Bill in accordance with these suggestions.

5. The Report itself had not been presented, nor had any conclusion as to the Draft of the Report or of the amendments, been adopted, by the Select Committee at the time of the expiration of the functions of the Council as then constituted.

6. The Government of India has since carefully and earnestly considered the subject, and has come to the conclusion that, in regard to Contracts upon which consideration has been received, the principle of the measure recommended in the Draft Report ought to be adopted, but that that principle should be carried out to what appears to be its legitimate extent, and should be applied to all Contracts whatsoever, broken in bad faith, and without reasonable excuse, by Defendants who have received consideration. While it is thought that a general measure of this kind will be less likely to meet with objection or disallowance in England than a measure restricted to agricultural Contracts, it is also felt that a broad and comprehensive Law applicable to all Contracts and to all Civil Courts throughout India, by which a clear distinction is marked out between the honest and the dishonest Contractor—between the man who breaks his Contract in bad faith and from some motive of interest or ill-will, and the man whose breach of Contract arises from misfortune or from circumstances which afford him morally a reasonable excuse though not a legal justification for the breach—is more consonant with just principles of legislation, and is less exposed to distrust and misinterpretation than a measure restricted to a special class of Contracts.

7. The Bill accordingly provides that when any person who shall have contracted for the performance of any act on his part shall have received the consideration, or a substantial part of the consideration for the same, and shall have broken his Contract, it shall be lawful for the Civil Court before which any suit for the breach of such Contract shall be brought, to determine whether the Defendant has broken the Contract in bad faith and without any reasonable excuse: And in that case the Court shall record its judgment to that effect, and shall award such amount of damages as is necessary fully to indemnify the Plaintiff against all loss, present and prospective, arising from such breach. When the Court has so pronounced, the Defendant shall be liable to be committed to the Civil Jail in execution, for such period as the Court may award, not exceeding the time provided by the Code of Civil Procedure, (that is, when the damages are under 50 Rupees a term not exceeding three months, when above 50 Rupees but under 500 Rupees a term not exceeding six months, when above 500 Rupees a term not exceeding two years)—and in such case the Plaintiff shall not be bound to supply the subsistence money required by the Code or by Act VII of 1855 regulating execution from the Supreme Courts: But the Defendant shall be bound to maintain himself in Jail, or on failing so to do shall be maintained at the expense of the Government, and shall be kept to hard labor while so maintained: And the Defendant shall not be entitled to be discharged from such confinement under the discharge Clauses of the Code of Civil Procedure (Sections 280 and 281), or under any order of discharge of an Insolvent Court (other than a final order of discharge in the nature of a certificate), until he shall either have paid the full amount of damages or shall have undergone the term of imprisonment awarded by the Court. The Bill also provides that when a Defendant shall have been discharged from Jail by effluxion of time, his person shall not be again liable to be taken in execution for the same claim, but his property shall continue subject to execution and sale till the amount of damages is repaid, unless in the case of a person subject to the jurisdiction of a Court for the relief of Insolvent Debtors, the party shall have obtained his final order of discharge in the nature of a certificate from such a Court.

8. The Bill places an award for damages made by the Court in the alternative in case its Decree for specific performance is not carried out, on the same footing as ordinary damages under the Bill.

9. Care has been taken so to define the words "in bad faith," "reasonable excuse," and certain other expressions in the Bill (which might, if undefined cause embarrassment to the Court applying it provisions) as to exclude from the operation of the Bill all cases in which intentional and dishonest breach of Contract is not an ingredient, and to give the Court within the limits prescribed a large discretion to deal with each case according to its special circumstances.

10. Such a measure will not be open to the objection that it is pointed against one particular class of Defendants, or that its benefits are confined to one particular class of Plaintiffs. Nor will the objection that a breach of Contract often involves Equities between the parties with which a Magistrate or other Criminal Authority unaccustomed to administer Civil Justice is not competent to deal satisfactorily, apply to such a measure; For the remedy it provides is to be administered solely by the ordinary Civil Courts, including in that term the Small Cause Courts, in cases within their jurisdiction: And the difficulty of determining whether a Contract has been broken in bad faith or without reasonable excuse, will practically be no greater than that of resolving the ordinary questions with which Civil Courts have to deal. The measure, too, is free from the objection that the proceedings provided against a defaulting Contractor may be perverted into an instrument of extortion or oppression, as it is only after the Civil Court has fully heard the whole evidence on both sides, and after it has determined that a valid Contract exists, and that that Contract has been broken by the Defendant after receiving consideration, that it will be called on to pronounce whether the breach was committed in good or in bad faith, or with or without reasonable excuse.

11. The only restriction placed by the Bill upon the nature of the Contracts to which its provisions apply, is that the Contract shall be one upon which consideration has been received by the person breaking it. On the one hand it is thought undesirable to extend the measure to Contracts upon which the Plaintiff has not actually given any consideration by parting with his money, goods, or otherwise, but has merely promised to give some equivalent for the act to be done by the Defendant: In such cases it is often impossible to say with absolute certainty whether the Plaintiff would have performed his part of the Contract if the Defendant had performed his. The position of the Plaintiff has not been changed for the worse, as it has been when he has actually performed his part of the Contract; The injury to him therefore in the great majority of cases is less than when he has given consideration. And the non-performance of the Contract, even though in some cases it may proceed from fraudulent motives, is not in itself of that palpably dishonest character, partaking morally of the nature of a breach of trust, which it is in the other case.

12. On the other hand it has been thought advisable not to limit the measure to cases in which consideration has been paid in money, but to extend it to all cases in which consideration of whatever kind has been received by the Defendant. The Tradesman who has sold and delivered his goods, or the Landlord whose land has been held by a tenant, is as much entitled to protection in respect of the money receivable by him, as the Capitalist or Planter, who has advanced his money, is entitled to such protection in respect of the goods or produce he is to receive in return.

13. Such a measure will include every breach of Contract which Mr. Beadon's Bill provided for, and will in addition embrace a variety of other Contracts of which a wilful and dishonest breach may be fraught with as mischievous consequences to the other contracting party as in the class of Contracts referred to in that Bill.

DRAFT REPORT.

TO THE HON'BLE THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

WE, the undersigned, being the Select Committee to whom a Bill "to provide for the punishment of Breach of Contract for the Cultivation, Production, Gathering, Provision, Manufacture, Carriage, and Delivery of Agricultural Produce," and a Bill "to provide for the registration and for the better enforcement of engagements for the cultivation and delivery of Agricultural Produce" were referred, have the honor to report as follows:—

The Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India having objected to a law for punishing by Criminal proceedings breaches of Contract relating to Agricultural produce, we cannot recommend the Council to pass the Bill introduced by Mr. Beadon in its present form. Such an Act, if passed by the Council even if it should receive the assent of the Governor-General, would no doubt be immediately repealed under orders from England. Whatever therefore may be the opinions of individual Members of this Committee (for they by no means agree as to the principle of the Bill), we think that it would be injurious to the public interests to pass an Act, with the knowledge that those who have been entrusted by Parliament with the power of ordering its immediate repeal would doubtless exercise that power. To pass a Law under such circumstances and to give it effect for a few months only could not by possibility be of any public benefit. But although the Council cannot do all that it might wish, we think that some relief may be afforded by exempting Complainants, in cases of the nature contemplated by Mr. Beadon's Bill, from the necessity of supplying subsistence money before the Defendants can be detained in execution by order of the Civil Court. In many cases a single individual may be obliged to employ numerous laborers or cultivators to enable himself to carry on the business in which he may be engaged, and in which he may have embarked his capital. To compel him to resort to the Civil Court for every breach of Contract which may be committed by those whom he has employed will be a hardship, and will afford but little relief, unless Courts competent to deal summarily with the cases, such as the Small Cause Courts, be established in sufficient numbers and within convenient distances. But even if such Courts be established, the benefit to be derived from them will be greatly diminished if Complainants, be compelled to deposit subsistence money not exceeding four annas a day for each defaulting Contractor, before he can be detained in execution by order of the Civil Court after a decree obtained against him. We therefore propose to relieve Complainants in such cases from the necessity of depositing subsistence money which now exists under the Civil Procedure Act, and to render the Defendants liable to be kept to hard labor in the Civil Jail so long as they are detained in execution unless they provide for their own maintenance. The expense to Government will be no greater than if the defaulters were detained in the Criminal Jail under an order of a Magistrate. We propose also to render the defaulter's property liable to distress and sale for the amount expended by Government for his maintenance, leaving the defaulter himself liable to be imprisoned and kept to labor for an additional month unless the amount be paid. We have made such alterations in Mr. Beadon's Bill as we think necessary; and considering that the Contracts in question will be subject only to the Civil Courts, we see no necessity for any special provisions for registration. We have introduced in the Bill such of the Clauses of Mr. Seonee's Bill as appear to us to be necessary, and we recommend the two Bills to be consolidated.

M. WYLIE,

Depty. Secy. to the Govt. of India,
Home Department.

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th February 1862, and was referred to a Select Committee, who will make a report thereon after the 15th of May next:—

A Bill relating to Emigration to the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the provisions of Act XV of 1842 (for regulating the Emigration of the Native Inhabitants of the Territories under the Government of the East India Company to the Island of Mauritius) so that Native Inhabitants of British India may emigrate to the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles; It is enacted as follows:—

I. Act XIV of 1839, in so far as it renders liable to penalties every person who shall make with any Native of India any contract for labor to be performed in the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles or who shall knowingly aid or abet any Native of India in emigrating from the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay respectively to the said Colonial Dependency, is repealed.

II. All the provisions of the said Act XV of 1842, as modified by Act XLIX of 1860 (relating to vessels carrying Emigrant Passengers to the British Colonies), shall extend and apply to Native Inhabitants of the British Territories in India who shall emigrate to the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles, and the said Act XV of 1842 shall be read as if the words "or the British Colonial Dependency of Seychelles" had been inserted therein after the word "Mauritius" wherever the word "Mauritius" occurs in the said Act.

III. No Emigrant shall be permitted to embark for the said Dependency of Seychelles without a certificate from the Agent appointed by the Government of Mauritius and Seychelles, countersigned by the Protector of Emigrants of the Port of Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, to the effect that such person has been engaged by him as an Emigrant to that Dependency on the part of the said Government.

IV. In case of sickness breaking out on board of any vessel conveying Emigrants to the said Dependency, such Emigrants may be taken to the Quarantine Station of Mauritius, and in such case such Emigrants may, at their option, contract for service at the said Island of Mauritius, or may proceed to the said Dependency; and if they shall elect to contract for service in the said Island of Mauritius, such Emigrants shall then be regarded and treated, in all respects, as if they had emigrated to the said Island under the said Act XV of 1842.

V. This Act shall take effect as to the said Colonial Dependency of Seychelles from the day when the Governor-General of India in Council shall notify in the Calcutta Gazette that such regulations have been provided, and such measures taken, as the Governor-General in Council deems necessary for the protection of such Emigrants during their residence in the said Colonial Dependency of Seychelles and in respect of their return to India.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Government of Mauritius has informed the Government of India that the Secretary of State for the Colonies has approved of the extension of Indian Emigration to the Seychelles Dependencies, and has requested that the measure may receive the sanction of the Indian Legislature.

The present Bill has been drawn on the model of Act XXXIII of 1860 relating to Emigration to Natal, and was introduced into the late Legislative Council at the request of the Government of India.

It proposes no new provision of Law, and only extends to the Seychelles the same facilities for obtaining laborers from India which have already been given to other British Colonies.

Government of Bengal.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, on the 15th February 1862, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 19th March next:—

A Bill to improve the system of Zemindary Dawks in the Provinces subject to the Government of Bengal.

WHEREAS the conveyance of letters on the Public Service between Police Stations and the Magisterial Officers of the Districts subject to the Government of Bengal is defective, irregular, and uncertain, and the system requires to be amended and placed on a better footing, it is enacted as follows:—

Section X. Regulation XX. 1817, repealed.

I. Section X. Regulation XX of 1817 is hereby repealed.

II. From and after the passing of this Act, the appointment of dawk runners and other officials necessary for the performance of the service of transporting all letters or packets conveyed between Police Stations and Magistrates of Districts, or Officers in charge of Sub-Divisions, shall be vested exclusively in the Magistrate of the District, or in such Officers as the Government may, from time to time, direct; and no proprietor or farmer of land and no local Agent of such proprietor or farmer shall have any concern in the appointment of pykes, peons, or runners for the above duty. The decision of all questions regarding the salaries or the removal of such runners or other subordinate officers shall rest with the Magistrate or with such other Officer as the Government may appoint, and with no one else.

Appointment, remuneration, and removal of dawk-runners, &c.

III. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate of the District or for such Officers as the Government may direct, to collect the funds necessary for the payment of the establishments required for the transport of letters by such zemindary dawks, from the Zemindars paying revenue direct to Government, or from the farmers of land in each District and to apportion rateably the sums to be paid on this account by each Zemindar.

IV. The Magistrate or other Officer shall, in the performance of this duty, first fix the total sum necessary for the efficient service of the zemindary dawks on the various lines of his District, and shall then proceed to apportion the above amount rateably, to the Zemindars of the whole District who are Sudder Proprietors or farmers of land. No Zemindar or farmer of land shall hereafter be exempted from liability on the ground that no zemindary dawk passes through any portion of his estates.

V. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate or other Officer nominated by Government to perform this duty, to appoint a local Committee composed of such of the District authorities and of the Zemindars as he may think fit, in order to determine the amount payable by each Zemindar for the purposes of this Act. The Magistrate shall be the President of any such Committee and shall have a casting vote at all deliberations. One appeal, and no more, shall lie to the Commissioner of the Division from any final order of a Magistrate or other Officer, or of a local Committee, imposing any pecuniary liability above the sum of ten Rupees a quarter on any Zemindar or farmer of land for the defrayal of the above postal service.

VI. It shall be competent to the Government, by an order to that effect, to exempt from the above liability any Zemindars or farmers the sudder jumma of whose estates in any one District does not exceed the sum of fifty Rupees a year.

VII. The sums leviable under the apportionment of the Magistrate or local Committee under this Act, shall be collected quarterly and in advance from the parties liable, by the Magistrate or other Officer appointed; and any Zemindar or farmer, and any local Agent, refusing or delaying to pay the quota imposed on him, shall be liable to a fine of one hundred Rupees for each offence, such fine to be leviable by distraint and sale of moveable property, or, in default of assets, to be commutable to one month's imprisonment in the Civil Jail. The sums leviable under this Act for the purpose of the dawks shall also be made good by the above process, in all cases of default. A Bill to amend Act XLII of 1860 (for the establishment of Courts of Small Causes beyond the local limits of the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter.)

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act XLII of 1860 (so far as the same relates to the Provinces subject to the Government of Bengal) in order to enable suitors to sue persons not actually residing, but carrying on business through their servants or agents, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Courts established under the said Act, it is enacted as follows :—

II. III. This Act shall be taken and read as part of Act XLII of 1860.

A. G. MACPHERSON,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, on the 15th February 1862, and was referred to a Select Committee, who are to report thereon after the 19th March next :—

A Bill to amend Act X of 1859 (to amend the Law relating to the Recovery of Rent in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal).

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act X of 1859, so far as the same relates to the Provinces subject to the Government of Bengal, it is enacted as follows :—

1. In any suit for rent under Act X of 1859, in which it shall appear to the Court before whom such suit shall be tried, that the plaintiff is entitled to a decree for the full amount of rent claimed by him, and the ryot or other person liable to pay such rent has, after lawful demand made in usual course, wilfully, and without reasonable ground for testing the demand or some part thereof, refused or neglected to pay the same, the Court, at its discretion, may award to the plaintiff, by way of penal damages, a specific sum not exceeding twenty-five per cent on the rent decreed, over and above the sum so decreed as rent, with interest and costs. And the specific sum so decreed shall be leviable by the same process as the rent decreed in the suit. A ground for contesting the demand may be a reasonable ground, within the meaning of this Section, though it may not be a legal justification for not paying the amount demanded.

II. If any Zemindar, Talookdar, or person having a right to measure any land, intends to measure such land, but does not know and cannot ascertain by whom such land is held or cultivated, he may apply to the Collector for the official measurement of such land specifying its boundaries, or otherwise describing it so as to admit of its identification, depositing such sum as to the Collector may seem proper by way of expenses; and the Collector shall thereupon issue a notification, requiring the person or persons holding or cultivating the land to attend at the measurement of it on a fixed day. The notification shall be affixed to a tree or a post on the land, and shall also be stuck up in the village to which the land belongs, in the Office of the Collector, and in the Mâl Cutcherry of the Zemindaree or Talook in which the village is situated. If the person or any one or more of the persons holding or cultivating the land or any part or parts thereof, fail to attend either personally or by agent on the day fixed by the notification for the measurement, the Collector or any person deputed by the Collector for the purpose, shall nevertheless proceed to the measurement of the land upon such information as to its boundaries and the parcels into which it may be divided as he can obtain, and shall duly record the particulars of the measurement. Whenever no person comes forward as holding or cultivating the land or any part or parts thereof, the Collector or other person deputed to make the measurement shall note the fact in regard to such land or such part or such parts thereof, and issue a notification, specifying the same, and declaring such land or such part or such parts thereof liable to lapse to the Zemindar, Talookdar, or other person entitled to measure, unless the holder or cultivator thereof appear before the Collector within a period of fifteen days to claim the same. If within the same

If the holder or cultivator fails to attend according to notice, his land shall lapse to the person entitled to measure. If within the same period no such holder or cultivator appears, the Collector, on the application of the person entitled to measure, shall pronounce the lapse of such land or such part or such parts thereof, to such Zemindar, Talookdar, or other person accordingly. If within the same period the holder of such land or of any part thereof shall appear either personally or by agent before the Collector, and shall satisfy the Collector that he had some reasonable excuse for not having appeared on the day of measurement, and shall deposit such sum as to the Collector may seem proper by way of expenses, the Collector may order a re-measurement if he thinks it necessary to do so, or otherwise he shall amend the record of measurement accordingly.

III. All measurements made under this Act, shall be made by the Government standard pole of measurement.

IV. Section LXXIV of Act X of 1859 is hereby repealed, and the following new Section shall be read as Section LXXIV of that Act :—

“ LXXIV.—The defendant in any action under this Act may pay into Court such sum of money as he shall think a full satisfaction for the demand of the plaintiff, without paying in any costs incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment : and such sum shall be immediately paid to the plaintiff. If the defendant deposit less than the sum claimed, and the plaintiff elect to proceed in the case, and ultimately recover no further sum than shall have been paid into Court, the plaintiff shall be charged with the whole costs of the suit incurred by the defendant as well as those incurred by himself.”

V. So much of Section LXXI of Act X of 1859 as directs that no fee for any Agent shall be charged as part of the costs of suit in any case under the Act is hereby rescinded : and it shall be competent to a Collector, in any suit tried and decided under Act X of 1859, to award to any party as a fee for the services of any Agent or Mooktear employed by him, and to charge as costs of suit, such a sum, not exceeding the rate of fee chargeable under the provisions of Section VII of Act I of 1846 for Pleaders in the Civil Courts, as the Collector may direct.

VI. The provisions relating to attachment before judgment contained in Sections LXXXI to XC of Act VIII of 1859 (for simplifying the procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter) are hereby extended to Act X of 1859, and shall be applicable according to the nature and exigency of the case, to suits tried under that Act.

VII. Section LXXXVI of Act X of 1859 is hereby repealed, and the following new Section shall be read as Section LXXXVI of that Act :—

“ LXXXVI. Process of execution may be issued against either the person or the property of a judgment debtor, but process shall not be issued simultaneously against both person and property. It may be issued on the oral application of the judgment creditor, his Agent or Mooktear, made at the time the decree is made, or thereafter upon the written application of the judgment creditor, his Agent or Mooktear, directed to the Court by which the original decree was made. Process of execution against the person or moveable property of a debtor shall be in the form (E) or (F) contained in the Schedule to this Act or to the like effect.”

VIII. If any person shall be arrested under Section CXLV of the said Act X of 1859, he shall be brought before the Collector with all convenient speed, and the Collector shall proceed forthwith to try the case. If the case cannot be at once heard and determined, the Collector may, if he think fit, require the party arrested to give security for his appearance whenever the same may be required. In default of such security the party arrested shall be committed to the Civil Jail till the case is heard.

IX. Section CL of Act X of 1859 is hereby repealed, and the following new Section shall be read as Section CL of that Act :—

“ CL. All the powers vested in the Collector by any of the Sections of this Act, may be exercised by any Deputy Collector in cases referred to him by a Collector, and in all cases without such reference by any Deputy Collector placed in charge of any Sub-Division of a District or who is specially authorised by Government to receive such cases : and all applications and reports allowed or required by this Act to be made to the Collector, may be made to any Deputy Collector having such local jurisdiction or such special authority as aforesaid.”

X. The decisions passed by a Zillah Judge under Section CLXI of Act X of 1859 shall be open to special appeal in the same manner and subject to the same rules as the decisions of Zillah Judges, passed in regular appeal, are open to special appeal under the said Act VIII of 1859.

XI. Section CLXII of Act X of 1859 is repealed, and the following new Section shall be read as Section CLXII of the said Act :—

“ CLXII. Suits under this Act shall be preferred in the Revenue Office of the District, or when a Sub-Division of a District has been placed under the jurisdiction of a Deputy Collector, in the Revenue Office of the Sub-Division in which the cause of action shall have arisen, or when the cause of action shall have arisen within the limits of the local jurisdiction of any Deputy Collector not in charge of a Sub-Division, but who has been specially authorised by Government to receive such suits, then in the office of such last mentioned Deputy Collector. Provided always, that the Collector may withdraw any suit from any Deputy Collector, and try it himself, or refer it to another Deputy Collector. If the lands comprised in any talook, farm, or other tenure, or any lands held under one lease or engagement, or at one entire rent in respect of which arrears of rent may be due, are situated in more than one District or Sub-Division, or within the local limits of the jurisdiction of more than one Deputy Collector so specially authorised as aforesaid, the District or Sub-Division or local limits in which the greater part of such lands is situate, shall be held to be the District or Sub-Division or local limits in which the cause of action has arisen; and if any question shall be raised respecting the District or Sub-Division or local limits within which the greater part of the lands is situate, the Board of Revenue, or if all the lands be situate in one District, the Collector of the District, shall decide the question, and such decision shall be conclusive on the point of jurisdiction.”

XII. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of Act X of 1859.
